

CPSP CPE Experience at INTEGRIS Health Baptist

Trainees serve as pastors to hospital patients, their families and staff. Active involvement that includes the action/reflection model is the primary goal of this particular ministry formation. The CPE experience is a journey of discovery. This experience is supported through experiential learning: doing ministry, studying theoretical materials, receiving feedback, personal reflection and applying one's learning to ministry relationships. CPSP CPE programs offered include Level I CPE and supervisory CPE.

- CPE residency A year-long residency beginning and ending in December with salary benefits. A Master of Divinity degree from an Association of Theological Schools institution is preferred.
- Parish-based CPE A one-day-per-week program in which trainees serve in parishes for their clinical hours. The supervisor meets with parish members.

- CPE internship A one-day-per-week program in which trainees serve in INTEGRIS Health metro hospitals as non-paid interns to complete the 300 clinical hours necessary to fulfill a single CPE unit. These hours can be scheduled creatively.
- Summer CPE An intensive, 11-week program in which trainees work 40 hours per week at an INTEGRIS Health metro hospital and receive opportunities in varied hospital settings.

What is Clinical Pastoral Education?

Dr. Richard Cabot conceived Clinical Pastoral Education as a method of learning pastoral practice in a clinical setting under supervision. The Rev. Anton Boisen enlarged the concept to include a case study method of theological inquiry — a study of the person as a living human document.

As CPE developed, other CPE leaders expanded and integrated pastoral practice with a knowledge of medicine, psychology and behavioral sciences. Today, many supervisors emphasize the importance of pastoral relationships being formed through an integration of personal history, behavioral theory and method and spiritual development.

The College of Pastoral Supervision and Psychotherapy Inc. is a theological and professional education for ministry. In CPSP CPE, theological students, ordained clergy, members of religious orders and qualified laypersons minister to people in crisis and other professionals. CPSP CPE trainees are challenged to improve the quality of their pastoral relationships.

Through pastoral practice, case studies and verbatim, individual supervision, seminar participation and relevant reading, trainees are encouraged to develop a genuine caring pastoral relationship. Viewing complicated life situations from different viewpoints, trainees gain understanding and new insights concerning the human condition. Theological reflection is important in the CPSP CPE as pastoral people seek ways to integrate theology with life experiences.

Prospective candidates will submit an application packet with a nonrefundable application fee. After review of the application, an interview at INTEGRIS Health Baptist may be arranged at the candidate's expense. If offered acceptance into the program, the candidate must submit an acceptance letter with a confirmation fee to be applied to tuition. Applications are accepted, and interviews conducted until all positions are filled.

Clinical Pastoral Education

As an action reflection program of theological education, CSP CPE offers an opportunity for a different kind of learning. This program offers candidates the opportunity to gain a stronger understanding of pastoral ministry through a unique learning experience. As members of an interdisciplinary health care team, trainees provide pastoral care to patients, families and staff who are in crisis.

The clinical experience is examined in both an ecumenical peer group and in consultation with a chaplain supervisor. Using the action/reflection process, trainees evaluate the effectiveness of their styles of ministry in relation to theological perspectives, faith practice, religious traditions and the needs of the person served. The insights and pastoral skills derived from the education process are then integrated into new experiences for ministry and learning.
